

Goals

The NRPA Business Council is focused on advancing park and recreation solutions in four key areas:

Relationship Building

Foster trust, understanding, shared problem-solving and solution-building between the field of parks and recreation and the business sector.

Innovation

Create an opportunity for park and recreation professionals and their business allies to share information that promotes innovation and advances for businesses, NRPA and the field of parks and recreation.

Advocacy

Create relationships between NRPA and business allies to promote and coordinate advocacy on behalf of parks and recreation.

Research

Promote research and innovation among the park and recreation profession.

About the National Recreation and Park Association

The National Recreation and Park Association (NRPA) is the leading not-for-profit organization dedicated to building strong, vibrant, and resilient communities through the power of parks and recreation. With more than 60,000 members, NRPA advances this mission by investing in and championing the work of park and recreation professionals and advocates — the catalysts for positive change in service of equity, climate-readiness, and overall health and well-being. For more information, visit www.nrpa.org. For digital access to NRPA's flagship publication, Parks & Recreation, visit parksandrecreation.org.

NRPA Business Council

A collaboration exploring, sharing and deploying park and recreation solutions.

Parks and Recreation: Improving Communities and Quality of Life

Local park and recreation agencies generated more than $218 billion in U.S. economic activity and supported 1.3 million jobs from their operations and capital spending in 2019. Park and recreation agencies also generate economic value through their promotion of health, as well as conservation efforts that foster higher property values and increase tourism. Most critically, park and recreation amenities are the cornerstones to improving a region's quality of life, a significant factor in enticing employers and workers to an area. The powerful impact parks and recreation has on economic activity highlights how park and recreation agency offerings are not merely "nice-to-have" services, but also how they transform our cities, towns and counties into vibrant and prosperous communities for all.

The NRPA Business Council

The National Recreation and Park Association (NRPA) Business Council is a collaboration for exploring, sharing and deploying solutions that enable park and recreation professionals and their business sector allies to realize their full potential in service of parks and recreation. Through this collaboration, the relationship between park and recreation professionals and the business sector is strengthened, resulting in greater innovation, quicker response to new challenges, and greater efficiencies for essential park and recreation service providers to build strong, healthy and resilient communities.
